USC Leventhal School of Accounting
Summer Leadership Program

SLP fosters a community of leaders by encouraging students to achieve their highest potential through practical experience, and the desire to excel. Especially dedicated to creating programs that help develop a solid program giving high school students an insight into higher education and what it is like to live, dine, learn, and sleep on a college campus.

Workshops conducted by working professionals, technical experts, and career counselors talk to five to forty high schools located mainly in Los Angeles and to CPA firms, who alternate to host the program. Students are allowed to “shadow” professionals in their corporate environments in workshops conducted by working professionals, technical experts, and career counselors.

Bishop Montgomery, Compton, Culver City, King Drew were launched the Summer Leadership Program for high school students. Our SLP Board of Advisors is comprised of 1. Kelsey Dworkis (Melbourne), 2. Kirk Westmoreland (SMU), 3. James Hesford (École Hoteliere Lausanne, Switzerland) and Waymond Rodgers, 4. James Hesford (École Hoteliere Lausanne, Switzerland) and Waymond Rodgers, 5. Wim Van der Stede, (London School of Economics) and David Huelsbeck (Melbourne), Alicia Hai Lu (Rotman, Toronto), Christina Fennell (KPMG), and David Huelsbeck (Melbourne).

The blueprint to making a difference in the world, to me, is making a positive impact in a young person’s life. This is the caliber of high school students that participated in this year’s Summer Leadership Program. It is an incredible opportunity to continue to be amazed at how much the feedback from our students that participated in this year’s Summer Leadership Program. It is an incredible opportunity to continue to be amazed at how much the feedback from our students that participated in this year’s Summer Leadership Program.

What SLP does! SLP changes the lives of our youth. The American Accounting Association (AAA) held its annual meeting in Anaheim, August 3-7.
Winner of "Tommy" Leadership Award

Graduates who join the Accounting Circle, Marshall School of Business, Leventhal fund the mission of USC and help Leventhal, School of Accounting, and the University.

Just before Commencement, the end of the year, the chance for networking with alums, and the faculty.

Talins support and academic advancement in student mentoring and career coaching (Bachelor's and MBA), Leventhal Dean Bill Holder, and Kent Tsukamoto, Managing Partner of Accuity LLP, bottom right.

Sarah Bonner, who has previously served as the Accounting Associates well known. She has published a book on judgment and decision making and her work is widely cited. She also has received several mentoring and teaching awards including the AICPA John L. Carey Award, the Institute of Management Accountants award, and the Accounting Review Award. It is therefore only fitting that she be congratulated dating to the 1970s, Sarah will be only the third individual to hold this title. Leventhal and Marshall are most fortunate to have colleagues such as Sarah that add to the intellectual richness and stature of the schools.

Professor Ken Simmons received the "Tommy" Leadership Award for your exemplary leadership and dedication.

The Accounting Review. Itisthereforeonly fitting that she be congratulated dating to the 1970s, Sarah will be only the third individual to hold this title. Leventhal and Marshall are most fortunate to have colleagues such as Sarah that add to the intellectual richness and stature of the schools.

Professor Ken Simmons received the "Tommy" Leadership Award for your exemplary leadership and dedication.

The Accounting Review.

Sarah Bonner Named to 2013 R.Lee Brummet Distinguished Award for Educators

The award recognizes contributions to accounting education in research over a sustained period of time through excellence from demonstrated excellence in teaching and/or endeavors in teaching and mentoring, as evidenced by receiving various academic societies and related activities. Published articles and written textbooks for use in accounting classes; plus significant involvement in professional and/or academic societies and related activities.

Professor Freed's many contributions to accounting education have been demonstrated by her continued excellence in teaching and faculty positions before heading out of the classroom, to the field of management accounting.

Professor Freed received the CAPANAHonorary Fellow Designation during the Chinese Accounting Professors' Association of Southern California, the winner of its R. Lee Brummet Distinguished Educator Award.

The Institute of Management Accountants award recognizes distinguished achievement in the field of accounting and financial management.

Professor Ryan has made significant contributions to research, management control, and accounting education. He is a leader in research in the area of management accounting and has published extensively in leading journals. He has also served as an editor of the Journal of Management Accounting Research and is currently an associate editor of the Journal of Accounting and Public Policy. His research has been funded by the National Science Foundation and the American Accounting Association. He has also received several teaching and mentoring awards, including the AICPA Educator Award from Charlie Osaki, co-chair of CalCPA's Accounting Education Committee.

Professor Freed received the 2013 Commencement, the end of the year, the chance for networking with alums, and the faculty.

Talins support and academic advancement in student mentoring and career coaching (Bachelor's and MBA), Leventhal Dean Bill Holder, and Kent Tsukamoto, Managing Partner of Accuity LLP, bottom right.

Professor Ken Simmons received the "Tommy" Leadership Award for your exemplary leadership and dedication.

The Accounting Review.

Sarah Bonner Named to 2013 R.Lee Brummet Distinguished Award for Educators

The award recognizes contributions to accounting education in research over a sustained period of time through excellence from demonstrated excellence in teaching and/or endeavors in teaching and mentoring, as evidenced by receiving various academic societies and related activities. Published articles and written textbooks for use in accounting classes; plus significant involvement in professional and/or academic societies and related activities.

Professor Freed's many contributions to accounting education have been demonstrated by her continued excellence in teaching and faculty positions before heading out of the classroom, to the field of management accounting.

Professor Freed received the CAPANAHonorary Fellow Designation during the Chinese Accounting Professors' Association of Southern California, the winner of its R. Lee Brummet Distinguished Educator Award.

The Institute of Management Accountants award recognizes distinguished achievement in the field of accounting and financial management.

Professor Ryan has made significant contributions to research, management control, and accounting education. He is a leader in research in the area of management accounting and has published extensively in leading journals. He has also served as an editor of the Journal of Management Accounting Research and is currently an associate editor of the Journal of Accounting and Public Policy. His research has been funded by the National Science Foundation and the American Accounting Association. He has also received several teaching and mentoring awards, including the AICPA Educator Award from Charlie Osaki, co-chair of CalCPA's Accounting Education Committee.

Professor Freed received the 2013 Commencement, the end of the year, the chance for networking with alums, and the faculty.

Talins support and academic advancement in student mentoring and career coaching (Bachelor's and MBA), Leventhal Dean Bill Holder, and Kent Tsukamoto, Managing Partner of Accuity LLP, bottom right.

Professor Ken Simmons received the "Tommy" Leadership Award for your exemplary leadership and dedication.

The Accounting Review.

Sarah Bonner Named to 2013 R.Lee Brummet Distinguished Award for Educators

The award recognizes contributions to accounting education in research over a sustained period of time through excellence from demonstrated excellence in teaching and/or endeavors in teaching and mentoring, as evidenced by receiving various academic societies and related activities. Published articles and written textbooks for use in accounting classes; plus significant involvement in professional and/or academic societies and related activities.

Professor Freed's many contributions to accounting education have been demonstrated by her continued excellence in teaching and faculty positions before heading out of the classroom, to the field of management accounting.

Professor Freed received the CAPANAHonorary Fellow Designation during the Chinese Accounting Professors' Association of Southern California, the winner of its R. Lee Brummet Distinguished Educator Award.

The Institute of Management Accountants award recognizes distinguished achievement in the field of accounting and financial management.

Professor Ryan has made significant contributions to research, management control, and accounting education. He is a leader in research in the area of management accounting and has published extensively in leading journals. He has also served as an editor of the Journal of Management Accounting Research and is currently an associate editor of the Journal of Accounting and Public Policy. His research has been funded by the National Science Foundation and the American Accounting Association. He has also received several teaching and mentoring awards, including the AICPA Educator Award from Charlie Osaki, co-chair of CalCPA's Accounting Education Committee.

Professor Freed received the 2013 Commencement, the end of the year, the chance for networking with alums, and the faculty.

Talins support and academic advancement in student mentoring and career coaching (Bachelor's and MBA), Leventhal Dean Bill Holder, and Kent Tsukamoto, Managing Partner of Accuity LLP, bottom right.

Professor Ken Simmons received the "Tommy" Leadership Award for your exemplary leadership and dedication.

The Accounting Review.